

Essays In Gratitude

Acknowledgements

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

In the name of Allah the most gracious the most merciful.

The laborious of tasks ever to be accomplished is that of writing a piece of work which would bring one a feeling of content. Composing this thesis to the best of what my definition of perfection is taught me that writing something worthwhile is in fact a good thing.

First and foremost, my awe and gratitude goes to Allah for allowing me to finish this work. Without His guidance, I would not have been able to complete this thesis. Secondly, I would like to express my deepest appreciation to some of the academic institutions and faculties which were kind enough to help me throughout my doctoral journey: the New York Public Library, Newberry Library, Davenport Public Library, library at the University of Virginia, Valentina Cook, Ariadne Cook Lourie, Helen Hanowsky, Anne Garner, Barbara Ozieblo, Linda Ben-Zvi and Martha Carpentier. I would also like to extend my extreme gratitude and appreciation to Professor Marcia Noe whose generosity made it easier for me to obtain some of Glaspell's works which are still unavailable to the modern reader of the day. Throughout my writing, she has been a constant support and for that I will always be appreciative of her kindness.

I would also like to thank Dr. Suzan Fakahani for supporting me to pursue my postgraduate studies. Her advice has helped me through the writing of this work.

With no doubt the encouragement I was showered with from my family made it easier on me to pass through the sleepless nights, doubtful times and harsh hours of my writing. My mother, Manal Sagr, the loveliest mother a person could have: you have been nothing but patient and supportive of my needs without me even uttering them. My father Asim Gazzaz, the most challenging of people I've ever encountered: thank you for all the times I dragged
